FAVOR CLOSURE.

A Republican Senator Defines His Colleagues' Position—The Senators Will Vote for the Unconditional Repeal Bill.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—"I believe the greater number of republicans in the senate are for closure after a reasonable time has been spent in debate," said Senator Aldrich Monday evening. "There are, perhaps, not more than a dozen who would vote against such a change in the rules, but the majority, I am sure, will sign my request addressed to the vice-president, they believing that closure should come in the regular way."

Senator Aldrich denied a story that he has been going the rounds that the republicans had offered the southern silver men a compromise if they would hold out for another week. "The republicans of the senate," said Mr. Aldrich, "except those who are for the silver states, are here to vote for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. That is what they expect to do, and any statement that they will be a party to a compromise is untrue, and grows out of a misconception as to the attitude of the republicans in connection with this subject."

With their recent purchases they control a very considerable portion of the capital stock, which is only $20,000,000.

A COMPROMISE BILL.

Will Soon Pass Both Houses and Become a Law.

Several of Those Who Have Been Against It Are Now Thought to Have Fallen Into Line—How Reprehensible Will Act—Kinsmen, Proponents Still.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—A special to the Cincinnati Enquirer says: The excitement has subsided. Now it is generally conceded that the new compromise bill on silver will pass both houses and become a law. It seems to be understood that the administration is ready to swallow the senate modification of its repeal project, and even to claim it a victory. It was a sort of rough wooing, but they say "Yes" at last to compromise. Several of the senate democrats hung back for a while, including such as Mills, Fry and Hill, but it would not be surprising if all were to come in finally and support the amendment. It is very hard for two or three senators to stand out against all their associates. Mills declared that he would vote against all amendments of the repeal bill, but that he had "burned all his bridges," but at that time he expected to be on the same side of the stream with the administration. He will be very apt to vote as the president desires him to do.

Irish of South Carolina, said he would not support the compromise, but he, too, is apt to yield to his associates. Hill has been holding back, but measure is not likely to be beaten by his vote.

The attitude of the republicans is not fixed, but only two or three votes are claimed for the amendment out of the original republican repealers. Carey, of Wyoming; Manderson, of Nebraska, and Squire, of Washington, are counted on for help to pass the project. The silver republicans will probably support the amendment and vote against the bill as amended. The signature of the president is expected. The eastern element is not happy over the result, and they swear it is a disgraceful surrender to the minority, whom they wanted to put to flight.

There were some striking developments in the long contest of two and a half months in congress. After all the talk of brute force and endurance and attempts to invoke it neither house of congress has been brought to bay, and the contest has been a poor way. The democrats in the house of representatives agreed informally upon a given time for debate, and took the vote upon an agreed plan between the leaders. In the senate the situation is a night patrol—medicine proceeds to force a vote would not work at all. The long sessions, only served to irritate senators and postpone adjustment. Mr. Hill's Albany plan for riding rough-shod over the risks seemed to please the leaders of the force bill, republicans like Aldrich, Hoar and Lodge, but not the democrats. Mr. Mills was the only democrat to give public consent to it, and he had to disown his own record.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

Alabama White Caps Forbid the Ginning of Cotton Until the Price Advances.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 23.—Two girls were burned in this state last week. It is supposed by white caps. Costing of gins, cottages and many gins are idle, and in some sections terror reigns. The white caps are now at work in the Coosa valley.

A dispatch from Eden (Ala.) states that the big gin and oil mills of Kentucky and Indiana, near that place, were posted Saturday morning.

The following notices have been posted in various sections on and several gins:

"White Caps of Alabama, Notice: I now forbid you ginning cotton at this place until cotton is worth ten cents per pound. If you do you will find your gin in ashes. So you will get no further notice."

"General Notice—To ginners of Coosa valley: From head to foot, I have not time to give you an individual notice, you are forbidden to gin any more cotton until cotton is worth ten cents a pound."

"To Merchants—You are notified not to buy cotton for less than ten cents a pound. If you do you will find your store in ashes. So you will get no further notice."

"To Farmers—You are notified not to sell or have cotton ginned until it is worth ten cents a pound. If you do your corn-crisbs will be burned."

"To Officers—You are notified not to make any levies or force collections. If you do you will be killed on sight."

"WHITECAPS OF ALABAMA." The situation is considered serious, and an appeal will be made to the governor for protection.

RANK FRAUD.

A Chicagoan Who Fleeced Many of His Poor Creditors.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—August Jernberg, a real estate dealer, made an assignment on June 8, and so did the banking firm of Jernberg, Griffin & Co., both to Attorney Edward Mahony, who had been Jernberg's life-long friend. Mahony resigned as assignee, and a bill filed in the county court shows that he had received $200,000 and $400,000 had been stolen from poor creditors.

It appears that about $300,000 which had been paid by poor foreigners on land contracts, Jernberg invested in real estate and bonds, transferred his holdings to connected parties, and made a large profit. Where there were supposed to be assets of over $200,000, there is practically nothing.

Bees in a Chimney.

WARREN, Ind., Oct. 23.—When Trainmaster Courtright built a fire in his residence he was astonished to discover a thick stream of a strange, sticky liquid ran down the stove-pipe and over the floor. He cleaned it up, but as it continued to flow, made an investigation, which revealed the fact that a swarm of bees had lodged in the chimney during the hot weather, and had made a large quantity of honey, which, when the natural gas fire was lighted, ran down the flue. The chimney was cleaned of its saccharine contents, and Mr. Courtright has had no further trouble.

IT IS OFF.

The President Goes Back on the Promised Compromise, and the Senate is as Much at Sea as Ever.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The compromise engineered by Gorman and signed by 29 democratic senators is off, and Monday morning the senate was once more in a chaotic state and as much at sea as it ever was. The collapse of the compromise was caused by a conference at Woodley Sunday between the president and Secretary Carlisle. The advice from New York, showing that the new compromise for October 1st was received with disgust and disapproval had a great deal of weight in stiffening the backbone of the president and he ordered Carlisle to return to the city and communicate with Secretary Gresham and give out to the press a statement to the effect that the administration would not countenance any such compromise as proposed.

The two secretaries conferred together at the Arlington for some time. The president said to the press association: "The compromise was communicated with the state and the statement published Monday morning was handed to the press with the understanding that it should be used as coming from a 'prominent official' and not from the president."

The first that many of the administration senators knew of the stand taken by the president was when they read the papers Monday morning, and at such men as Vilas, McPherson and Palmer, White of Louisiana, and Gray, most of whom had agreed upon the compromise and signed it, were greatly put out, and those who had signed the compromise, asking for its passage at once, notified Mr. Voorhees that they would not vote for it. The position the statement puts Voorhees in is most embarrassing, but he is trying to make the most of it by saying that he was only listening to what he thought was the voice of the majority of the senate. The failure of the compromise has brought forth the closure proposition again, and it is now looked upon as the coming event in the senate.

Senator Sherman is now being charged with causing all the trouble in regard to the refusal of the compromise. He has been brought to bay, and spent the morning at Woodley and denounced to the president the proposed compromise as a worse make-shift than the present one, and on Sherman's leaving the president sent for Carlisle and issued his "notice to quit."

A LABOR TRUST.

All the Unions to Be Amalgamated Into One Gigantic Organization for the United States.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A scheme of huge proportions and great possibilities is to be discussed at the general assembly of the Knights of Labor next month. It involves the amalgamation of every labor order and labor union in the United States, whereby all shall recognize a single supreme authority, and provides that in politics the members of the labor trust shall be an organized unit in everything that seems to affect their interests.

The scheme is championed by Mr. Powderly, the grand master workman of the knights of labor, and finds considerable favor among laboring men not affiliated with that organization. Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor, is opposed to it, but leaders of the night patrol—medicine proceeds to force a vote would not work at all. The long sessions, only served to irritate senators and postpone adjustment. Mr. Hill's Albany plan for riding rough-shod over the risks seemed to please the leaders of the force bill, republicans like Aldrich, Hoar and Lodge, but not the democrats. Mr. Mills was the only democrat to give public consent to it, and he had to disown his own record.

There are said to be internal dissensions in all the labor orders which can only be overcome by prompt and united action. Mr. Powderly has been in communication with Chief Engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and with the leaders of every labor organization in the country. Delegates will be present from these when the general assembly of the Knights of Labor is called to order next month, and the whole programme will be discussed at length. The union is a selfish one, and that he will be whipped into line with patronage. It will be remembered that Mr. Gompers spoke on the subject in St. Louis some time ago, and was hoisted down.

A COLLISION.

Two Passenger Trains Come Together on the P. & E. W. & C. Road.

Twenty-Five Passengers Hurt, Three of Whom Will Probably Die—A Tender Driven Into a Coach by Its Engine—Length—An Engineer's Mistake.

MONTROVILLE, Ind., Oct. 23.—Two heavily loaded passenger trains on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago road came together at this place Sunday morning in a heavy fog, three persons being probably fatally hurt and a score more injured.

The second section of the west-bound vestibule train No. 25 was on the main track, waiting the arrival of the second section of the east-bound passenger No. 4, which was to take the siding and allow the west-bound train to proceed.

It was 6:30 o'clock, and the air was filled with a heavy, impenetrable fog, which made it impossible for the engineers to see further than a few feet ahead of their engines. The east-bound train was in charge of Miles McGuinity, of Lima, with Engineer Bob Cowan and Fireman L. G. Dally, of Ft. Wayne, Ind. Our Engine No. 121, Engineer Cowan, being unable to see any land marks with which to judge where he was, thought he was near the switch, and was proceeding along cautiously, when he was suddenly confronted with the engine of the west-bound train, which was in the shape of ten heavy vestibule coaches and sleepers all packed with passengers.

The train was only about four car-lengths off, and the engineer and fireman could not jump, and when the big engines plowed into one another they were in the midst of the wreck, Cowan being very badly scalded on the left side of his body, while his fireman was thrown several feet from the track and was found lying broken legs and in an inexcusable condition by the passengers who hastened to their rescue. Fireman Dally was unconscious and was hurt internally. Brakeman Fred Hunt was between two of the cars when the crash came, and was also thrown from the train and picked up unconscious, and remained in that condition for several hours. The car behind the engine was a coach, but none of the passengers in this car were injured, but the next two cars were completely wrecked, and many of the passengers injured more or less.

The tender of the engine No. 100 was driven into the car's entire length, and it is a miracle that both were not killed. Engineer Dally was on the engine and Conductor Phillips had charge of the train.

DR. SCHAFF.

One of the World's Greatest Bible Scholars, Passes Away at His Home in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff, regarded by many as the greatest living authority on exegesis and church history, died Saturday morning at his home in this city. No. 75 East Forty-third street. Paralysis was the immediate cause of death. Dr. Schaff was born in Goring, Switzerland, Jan. 1, 1819, and received his early education at the gymnasium of Stuttgart. From there he went to Tuebingen and Halle, and finally to Berlin, where in 1841 he took the degree of D. D., and passed his examination for a professorship.

For many months after this he traveled as tutor to a Prussian nobleman, and on his return to Berlin, delivered a course of lectures on the subjects for which he afterward became noted, and on which his reputation will mainly rest.

For a long while he had been a professor in Union seminary, and was one of the authorities in the Reicks controversy.

NATIVE WINES.

Proposition to Levy a Light Tax to Raise Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The ways and means committee, considering a new source of increasing the revenues of the government. For several days past consultations have been held between members of the committee and treasury officials relative to the question of taxing native wines. These wines have not hitherto been subjected to taxation under the internal revenue system of the government, and by reason of this exemption the industry has developed into great importance in almost all parts of the country, but especially in California. They have had a strong tendency by reason of their cheapness to supplant imported wines, which are subjected to a heavy tariff tax, and can be made the source of a large revenue with a comparatively light tax imposed upon their manufacture and sale.

A Brave Volunteer Officer Took Post Office Thieves.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Oct. 23.—A bold attempt was made at midnight to rob the post office. Policeman Willoughby was just entering the alley when he was met by three men. At Louisville Judge Field failed to follow Judge Toney's advice in discharging a jury because it was not sequestered in accordance with the new law. The Sherman act will be repealed in a few days—perhaps to-morrow.

WANTED:—Every Democrat in Lawrence county to go to the polls on Tuesday, November 7th.

The Republicans are making a desperate effort to carry the Republican State of Ohio this year, and they are failing.

The revision of Webster's dictionary should have been postponed until now. "Senatorial dignity," as he truly is, does not appear in the last edition.

Grover Cleveland has never yet made a mistake. He is sometimes condemned by persons who cannot see far enough to fathom his acts, but time always proves him correct.

A Pennsylvania couple with romantic notions were married recently at the mouth of the Cave of Winds, Niagara Falls. Some newspaper suggests that they might just as well have been married at the door of the United States Senate.

The State has purchased the chair manufactory plant of the Mason & Ford Company, and it is expected that a considerable portion of the convicts will, in a short time, resume work, as the making of chairs furnishes employment for several different classes of artisans.

The State Senator who will be elected this fall in every district in Kentucky has equal chances of a two-years and a four-years term. Half of them will necessarily hold two years and the other half four, and the law provides that the matter shall be settled by lot after the Senate assembles.

At a mass-meeting held at Versailles, Ky., a resolution was adopted endorsing the position of the Administration in the matter of the Repeal Bill and calling upon the Kentucky Senators to use their influence to bring about a vote in the Senate. Versailles is the home of Senator Blackburn.

A statement of exports of tin plate from Wales during the nine months ended September 30 shows that, despite the McKinley tariff, the United States still received nearly three-fourths of the entire export product of Great Britain. The exports to the United States for the period stated were 212,241 tons, against 214,527 tons during the corresponding period of last year.

Good times are steadily increasing throughout the country and with the big boost which the repeal of the Sherman law will give in a few days, all will soon be going as merrily as could be expected. Then when the tariff is reformed this winter, the Federal election laws repealed, and other Democratic acts accomplished, will the country be on the high road to genuine and lasting prosperity.

Capt. R. Brooks, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., has been appointed Assistant U. S. District Attorney for Oklahoma Territory, and will succeed the incumbent as District Attorney.

Republican manufacturers who closed down for the "hard times" are showing their insincerity by resuming work at reduced wages for their workmen and selling their products at the same old prices. Nevertheless, they tell their working men that they are compelled to reduce their wages because—because—the Democrats are in power. A laborer who can't see the fallacy of the move is a dull piece of mechanism.

Chief Justice Bennett has delivered an opinion in Kentucky Court of Appeals, reversing the decision of the lower court in the case of the Commonwealth vs. G. W. Murphy, of Lebanon. Murphy was indicted for giving away liquor on election day at night, and the Circuit Judge ordered his acquittal. Judge Bennett holds that the law says intoxicating liquors must not be sold, loaned or given away on election day, day being construed to mean the whole twenty-four hours.

Notwithstanding the reports to the contrary for several days, President Cleveland and his cabinet are not in favor of any compromise, but stand positively for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act, he said to their praise. The result is that the free silver men have weakened, and a vote will no doubt be reached in a very few days, and the act will be repealed. The condemnation poured upon the heads of the Senate, from all parts of the country, for their dilatory proceedings is the most severe ever witnessed in this country. The people are demanding a change in the antiquated, "dignified" rules of the Senate, a change of Senators, and a change in the manner of electing members of that body. The spectacle of a minority virtually controlling the majority is one not relished by the people of this republic.

Two weeks from to-day the second of the regular November elections in Kentucky will be held. The chief danger against which the readers of the State press must be warned is their old-time enemy—apathy. If Jones, of Barron, is re-elected to the Senate, if Bennett, of Greenup, again comes to the House, if Republicans or Populists are allowed to again defeat any of the good Democrats for these offices it will not be because of any growth in their parties, but because of their zeal, and the lack of such quality among the Democrats, who should go to the polls, and exercise their right to vote, with the same zeal they will use in denouncing the public actions of men they were too lazy to help defeat. It is important that all Democrats in Kentucky vote in the election of Representatives and Senators because in these cases Democratic votes count. —Courier Journal.

The World's Fair.

Visitors will be admitted to Jackson park for an indefinite period after Oct. 30. The length of time will depend upon the weather and the popular demand. This course was officially determined upon by the council of administration. Oct. 30 is to be observed as Columbus day and not closing day, as the council formerly proclaimed.

The admission fee for the November days will, the officials say, be 50 cents, as it is now.

While all exhibitors may begin packing up Oct. 31 there will no special effort to hasten their departure. They will be furnished neither with electric lights nor guards to assist in working at night.

If the crowds come in large numbers an effort will be made to entertain them. Bands of music will be provided and many of the concessions will remain open. The restaurants, electric launches, intramural road, and others will do business as long as it is profitable.

Up on the Midway there probably will be an exodus the moment the fair officially closes. The Japanese, Dahomeans, Samoans, and like attractions, the people in which are unaccustomed to cold weather, are already anxious to go. According to the terms of their agreement with the Exposition company most of the Midway buildings were to be removed within forty-five days, but President Higginbotham said they would be granted an extension of time in case it was found desirable for them to continue in November. Although contracts expire the last day of October the Exposition company will be in control of the grounds and can close up every concession it sees fit. For this reason terms will have to be made before business can be transacted. The Ferris wheel probably will remain an attraction on Midway for other attractions are gone.

The retention of the World's Fair buildings as they are for several years is a question being argued by members of the South Park Board of Commissioners. So far the members have not been officially notified by the wishes of the Council of Administration. And as there has been no meeting of the board to consider the matter no decision can be given. Each member of the board has some view, but they are not harmonious. On one thing they are all agreed, and that is, if the buildings could be kept in good condition and without much expense they would be a valuable addition to the park.

The place to spend the twilight hour is in the court of honor, especially if the night comes mildly. It is pleasant to be out of doors. The buildings though, seen a hundred times before, take on a new beauty in the dimness. People are more given to admiring the white places than they were before. When a man is on his deathbed every one begins to recall good things about him. Now that the court of honor seems to be doomed, the visitors appreciate hour by hour the extent of their loss. As they gather silently in the court of honor at sunset and begin to fill up railings, benches and chairs like a tired army going into camp, they talk of the pity of destroying anything so beautiful. "They have time to talk it over."

There is no better medicine for family use than Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Their sugar-coating makes them easy and even agreeable to take, and as they contain no calomel or other injurious drug, they are perfectly safe for patients of any age.

SEED TICK.

Seed Tick still in a wobble, but don't doubt but that we'll come in with a Democratic majority. Burrah for all the Democratic ticket.

Hiram Lambert, of Vessie, was here this week sowing his entire farm in wheat, only reserved his orchard.

Chris Savage has purchased two more horses and a shot gun. He said the foxes was eating his corn all up.

Wm. Stewart Jr. is going to W. Va. with his cane mill in a week or so. He says he has two or three large patches of cane to make over there.

Geo. H. Fannin is running a huckster wagon from this place to Ashland. Making two trips a week.

John S. Taulin was here last week on the hunt for fat hogs, but not finding enough to suit him he went on rejoicing.

Wishing the News success and the Democratic ticket to be elected. "DINKY."

WANTED:—Every Democrat in Lawrence county to go to the polls on Tuesday, November 7th.

Bread Made With Soap.

From a communication read to the Association of Belgian Chemists, it seems that Continental bakers are in the habit of mixing soap with their dough to make their bread and pastry nice and light. The quantity of soap used varies greatly. In fancy articles, like waffles and fritters, it is much larger than in bread. The soap is dissolved in a little water; to this is added some oil, and the mixture, after being well whipped, is added to the flour. The crum of the bread manufactured by this process is said to be lighter and more spongy than that made in the ordinary way.

You ought not to expect dead people to subscribe: "The Mayfield Mirror has decided not to publish obituaries for people who do not publish obituaries for people who do take that paper. It very sensibly says that the paper belongs to those who subscribe for it, and it would not be fair to them to take up their space by obituaries for families who do not take the paper. And it often happens that the very people who are subscribers write the longest obituaries and tack on the stereotyped poetical effusion. If all papers would follow the Mirror's example there would soon be an obituary revolution."—Paducah Standard.

A closed bank in Arizona has issued the following notice: "This bank is not busted; it owes the people $36,000; the people owe it $35,000; it is the people who are busted; when they pay we'll pay."

White House Babies.

The five children besides baby Esther Cleveland who were born in the White House were also girls. One of these girls, the grandchild of a President, is now employed in one of the departments in Washington, ending, as she began, her days under the government's roof-tree.—Harper's Bazar.

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know in what respect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better than any other. We will tell you. When this Remedy is taken as soon as a cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity, and it is the only remedy that will do this. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and aids nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, lightening the mucus and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition. No other remedy in the market possesses these remarkable properties. No other will cure a cold so quickly. For sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisa, Ky.

Two young married men in the Salem excursion to Newport last week, says the Salem Journal, played a rather sweet joke on their wives. Before entering the long tunnel at Elk City each was sitting with the other's wife. They agreed to exchange seats in the long tunnel, and each kiss his own wife. Well, they did as agreed. One of the young women screamed terribly and attracted the attention of the whole car, and all had a hearty laugh at her expense when the light broke in upon her, resisting fiercely and in her husband's arms. The other one kept perfectly still, and she and her husband had a good laugh on each other when the light broke on them. She said she did not know but what it was her own husband, and did not want to give it away if it was not.

"Uncle Johnny" Webb, of Glenwood, this county, probably can boast of having in the Government employ more descendants than any other man living. His son Wesley is a Postmaster at Glenwood; Elijah, Postmaster at Denton; John, Postmaster at Willard; and A. J. at Oliveville. His nephew, B. F. Webb, is also Postmaster at Webbville. He has a grandson in each of the above offices as Deputy Postmaster except the latter. His son D. W. is Deputy County Clerk, Wesley a Notary Public, and a niece is a teacher in the public schools. L. D. Webb is a Justice of the Peace.

A Ripe Age.
Mrs. Elizabeth McGuire, well known in this county, was 80 years old Wednesday. Her general health is excellent and she is not for the fall she had two or three years ago she would be an active woman. Her mental faculties are not in the least impaired and she bids fair to celebrate her centennial.

Old Citizen Dead.
Peter L. Skaggs, one of our oldest citizens, died at his home in this place yesterday evening, after an illness of several days. Had lived until December he would have been 79 years old. He leaves two daughters—Mrs. A. P. Ferguson and Mrs. David Wellman. His wife died several years ago.

Football at the State College.

The State College football team at Lexington lines up this year with Lyss Garred left tackle and captain, J. W. Woods center-rush, and Geo. Carey quarter back, three of as important positions as there are in the team.

These will all be recognized by our readers as Lawrence county students.

In the first league game, State College vs. Georgetown College, which was played at State College ball park Oct. 14, the Georgetown boys were defeated by a score of 80 to 0. The playing of Garred, Carey and Woods was especially conspicuous throughout the game. In a game between State College and University of Tenn., played at Knoxville Oct. 2, State College won by a score of 56 to 0.

These are all the match games the State College team has played this year. The next game is one with Centre College at Danville, Sat. Oct. 28. This is expected to be the hardest game ever played in Kentucky.

Things That Are Found in the Mails.

Sweet scented missives passing between lovers are so common as to soon cease to arrest a postmaster's attention. But it takes a long time to so adjust one's olfactory nerves that the surprises of the small boy's contributions will not disturb him. Frinstance, one day not long since the Louisa postoffice was gradually permeated by an odor which did not belong there. Its strength seemed greatest in the region of the letter box, and an investigation showed the basis of the stink to be the enclosure of a certain letter, addressed to "Master" somebody, over in Ohio. Some pole-cat experts were called in and they at once decided that the letter contained some portion of the anatomy of the odoriferous little skunk. Now, the law excludes from the mails everything emitting a bad odor, and the decision as to what are bad odors is left to the "taste" of the postmaster. This case was decided against the package, which was hung on the back fence to await further developments. It was subsequently ascertained that the package was mailed by a young Nick living near this place, addressed to a school friend as a remembrance.

Robbery.

W. T. Evans's store was broken into last Friday night and over $200 in money taken from the safe, which had been left unlocked. The entrance was made through a front window early in the night, when the moon was shining brightly. A pane of glass was smashed and the window raised. There is said to be no clue to the theft as yet.

We Rank Second.

Maj. D. C. Boyce, of Quinnemont, W. Va., coal and iron expert at the Columbian Exposition, claims that West Virginia's exhibit at the Fair is the best of all the state exhibits, there, and that Kentucky ranks second.

Boyce is endeavoring to have an analysis made of each specimen of coal sent to the exposition, and a statement furnished each exhibitor, so that each will be able to accurately rate his coal. The coal exhibit at the Fair is very full. There are specimens from mines covering every State and territory in the Union. The thing that has attracted the greatest attention in the coal exhibit probably is the glass map made under the direction of Major Boyce showing the coal deposits in the United States, the number and thickness of veins, etc. This map is placed in the gallery of the mining building, and a crowd of visitors can always be found about it studying the coal deposits.

Sickness Prevents.

Hon. B. E. Roe, Democratic candidate for the State Senate had expected to speak in Louisa and Peach Orchard within a few days, and some correspondence was had relative to the matter. He writes us, however, that sickness will prevent him doing so. His mother has been dangerously ill for some time and the physicians have ordered her to be taken to Cincinnati immediately for treatment, and this he will do. This condition of affairs should stimulate us Democrats to look all the more closely after Mr. Roe's interests, and will doubtless have that effect.

One Day in 365.

Every Democrat should arrange to go to the polls on November 7th. Let nothing prevent you. For a year you have not been called upon to do anything for the party. It is certainly not asking much service to request you to give one day in a year, or probably only a part of a day, for the success of the principles you endorse.

Charley Williams has the interests of the common people at heart, because he is one of them.

Big Sandy Crops.

Reports from most all over the country are to the effect that crops were ruined by the drought, but in the Sandy valley we have the best crops that we have had for many years. This fact reminds one that a crop failure in this valley is almost an unknown occurrence. Good crops in anything to which the soil is adapted—and that embraces a great variety—can be counted upon almost as a certainty. Our farmers do not appreciate their country as they should. Steady and persistent work, governed by common sense and a reasonable amount of good management, will make money for the farmer of the Sandy Valley. All you have to do for proof of this is to look at those farmers who follow this plan. It is necessary to get out of the old rut of former generations. If corn does not pay, you are not compelled to raise it. Grow tobacco, onions, vegetables, fruits, hogs, sheep, or whatever can be marketed. Get out of the ruts and keep out.

Don't be a Sucker.

Any Democrat who will listen to the campaign lies which may be expected to be circulated this year, as well as all other years, allows himself to be played for the veriest of suckers. The Republicans always fish for suckers and their favorite bait is unfavorable stories about Democratic candidates. If the bait is offered you, remember that you have been sized up as a good soft subject, and you should prove to them their mistake by steadily pursuing the even and Democratic tenor of your way.

If you are looking for a man for School Superintendent who is highly educated, you have him in the person of C. B. Stuart; if you want a man with a knowledge of the schools, learned by actual experience, Stuart fills the bill; if a man with judgment and courage enough to execute the duties of the office, you find him in Stuart; and if you like a man who has risen from a country boy to these attainments by his own efforts, you have no further to go than Stuart.

Zephaniah Meek is the ticket for mayor. J. M. Whitten is the Democratic nominee for police judge and J. C. Hopkins for mayor.

That Lonesome Feeling.

This paper has lived to see all the big papers which sprung up in adjoining counties, since we began, and died and buried, except the "Monitor" and it couldn't swim, and took lodgings on on Saltyards. We feel lonely when we think of the editors of the upper Sandy of four years ago and realize that they are all gone. Save 1, only 1.—Martin County Gazette.

"Now that we have a telephone let us have a railroad, and then Pike county will have a chance to show to the outside world the extent of her great riches, which consist chiefly of coal and timber. All that Pike county needs is a market for her mineral products; give her that and she will blossom like the rose."—Mountain Monitor.

When a doctor considers it necessary to prescribe sarsaparilla, he simply orders a bottle of Ayer's, knowing full well that he will obtain thereby a surer and purer preparation than any other which the drug-store can furnish. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the Superior Medicine.

Vote for Principles.

The principles of Democracy should be uppermost in your mind when you go to vote. A dislike for any candidate should not be a sufficient cause for you to waver. If you don't like the man, vote straight anyway for the sake of your principles. These you should not allow an enemy to cause you to sacrifice. It is more of a victory for your enemy than for yourself if you do. Remember that no man without enemies can be found for a candidate. Vote for the party and forget the man, if you choose, but be sure you put an X under the rooster and then lay down the stencil.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 120 pounds; I now can weigh 160 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market today."
